In the first half of 2009, the global financial crisis expanded further and the actual economy suffered a severe impact. Trade fell substantially, leading to an imbalance of demand and supply in the container shipping market. Both trading volume and trading prices fell steadily. CCFI, representing the export price index of China container shipping, was down 28% YoY.

In the first half of 2009, two container vessels were delivered to China COSCO with a total capacity of 14,526 TEUs. As at 30 June 2009, China COSCO had a fleet of 149 container vessels in operation with a capacity of 554,000 TEUs. After negotiation with the shipyards, we delayed part of the container vessels delivery. Moreover, we manage our shipping capacity by various measures including leasing and exchanging vessels among alliances, chartering-out vessels and terminating leases. As at 30 June 2009, the Group has an order book of 57 container vessels with total capacity amounting to 430,000 TEUs.

Dry Bulk Shipping Business

In the first half of 2009, cargo volume of dry bulk shipping of China COSCO reached 129 million tons, down 4.8% YoY. Our principal cargos were iron ore, coal and grain, accounting for 45%, 29% and 15% of the total cargo volume respectively. Revenue of the dry bulk shipping segment was RMB 11.1 billion, down 71.7% YoY.

As at 30 June 2009, the Group operated 431 dry bulk vessels with a total capacity of 33.92 million dead weight tons (DWT), representing an increase of 1% YoY and a decrease of 1.3% as compared to the end of last year. Of these, China COSCO owned 214 vessels or 14.44 million DWT with average age of the vessels of 14.3 years and chartered 217 vessels or 19.48 million DWT. After negotiating with the shipyards, we announced the cancellation of 8 dry bulk vessels orders. As at 30 June 2009, we had 44 new orders for dry bulk vessels with capacity of 6.45 million DWT.

Logistics Business

In the first half of 2009, our logistics business achieved satisfactory results, especially in our project logistics business. With the completion of the construction of systematic land-transportation platform, it enabled our Company to integrate our resources further. Moreover, with the strengthening of strategic co-operations, COSCO Logistics successfully won a number of large scale logistics projects including China Guangdong Nuclear Power Group Yangjiang Nuclear Plant Project, China National Nuclear Corporation Fangjiashan Nuclear Power Project, Dongfang Electric Corporation Mettur Power Plant Project in India and Sinopec Corporation Tahe Project in Xinjiang.

Terminal and Related Businesses

In the first half of 2009, total container throughput of China COSCO was 20.21 million TEUs, down 8.5% YoY. Container throughput in the Bohai Rim and the Suez Canal Container Terminal rose 1.1% and 13.6% respectively. In the first half of 2009, the Group had no new berths in operation and no new terminal project investment was signed. As at 30 June 2009, China COSCO had 89 container berths in operation, with an annual handling capacity amounting to 48.15 million TEUs.

Container Leasing Business

In terms of container leasing, according to the business model of integrating self-owned containers with managed containers, we maintain a leading position within the industry and remain the second largest container leasing company. As at 30 June 2009, the capacity of self-owned containers with managed containers was 1.61 million TEUs, down slightly by 1.6%. We had a market share of approximately 13.6% in the world. The average leasing rate was 90.3%, higher than the average sector standard.

Outlook

In the second half of 2009, the global economy will have a positive development trend. Especially the various economic stimulus measures adopted by the Chinese government have shown results. China's GDP will be able to maintain a growth rate of 8%. However, there are lots of uncertainties, including the instability of global and domestic economies. The economic trend is still challenging. Following the improvement in the global economy and trading conditions, it is expected that the shipping market in the second half of the year is likely to perform better than the first half of the year because of the recovery of demand.

To confront the challenging second half of 2009, China COSCO adopted various measures to explore development opportunities during the crisis, as well as to build China COSCO as a hundred year enterprise.

The container shipping business segment will try to control capacity growth through the delay in the delivery of new ships, termination of chartered ships and exchange capacities; by optimizing routes with cooperative alliances; and continuing to focus on stringent cost controls.

The dry bulk shipping business segment will continue to optimize the portfolio of the owned and chartered-in-fleet, and make a good combination of spot, COA, TC, long-term charter, short-term charter and voyage charter operations to maximize results. At the same time, it will continue to focus on the key client strategy, further enhance lean management and cost controls, as well as further strengthen risk controls.

Being the unique integration platform of COSCO Group, China COSCO will continue its overall strategy by maintaining the principle of "making overall plan and implementing in phases".
